

SnoTechnica 2022

Make Your Sled Go Faster!

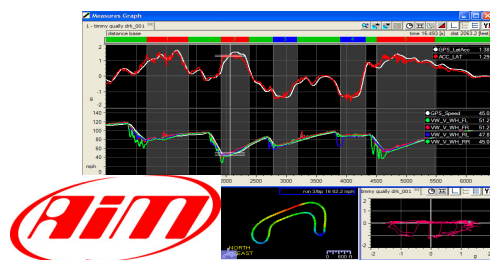

Hosted by MIRA
Presented by Precision AutoResearch and M&M Sports Center/FormulaX-1

Due to lodging shortage, this is postponed. New date/venue TBD!
~~Saturday/Sunday, October 15/16, 2022~~

MIRA is proud to host four very informative sessions, presented by renowned race engineers, Dr. David Redszus and Mel Winnie, are guaranteed to help you learn quickly and go faster. This year SnoTechnica covers Data Logging and Clutch Setup and Tuning.

Data for Race Sleds

Sat 5-9pm – Basic Training

SnoPro / AIM Data

This session will orient new and established users on setup and basic use of their data systems, and how to navigate the analysis software. While oriented towards early adopters, any who are data-curious will find this interesting. Bring any and all questions!

Clutch Setup 101

This session covers clutch component functions, system operation in theory and practice, the 4 dimensions of alignment, and basic setup targets.

You should know this stuff. If not, get here!

Sun 8-12am – Advanced Training

Using Data Analysis to Win

Intense focus on interpreting data for sleds. Covers Analysis tricks and how to interpret advanced sensors. Participants in this session have typically used data already, but are looking to take the next step towards using their systems like a pro.

CVT Advanced Tips and Tricks

This session unlocks many of the mysteries of clutch tuning. Covers the math behind clutch performance, non-intuitive gearing, belt failures, slippage, and more.
